His career furnishes a bright example to the young, especially to those dependent, wholly or in part, upon their own individual efforts for success in life. S. S. Bryan, as toastmaster, announced that he had received several hundred letters and telegrams, requesting him to extend compliments and felicitations to Mr. Seep, and had also received a number of telegrams and letters of regret from friends who, through great distance, illness or business engagements which could not possibly be ignored, were unable to be present. He had selected the following out of this number: I much regret that I shall be deprived of the pleasure of being present at the dinner to be given in Titusville by your friends in honor of your seventieth birthday. Please accept my hearty congratulations on this happy occasion, and best wishes for many joyous returns of the day. The ranks of our old veterans are thinning out, but we all will remain for many years. It is a pleasure to know that while you have pursued your business life so faithfully and acceptably for the long period in which we have been so happily associated. you have not forgotten the bitter part; and great numbers will bless you on this, your seventieth birthday, for the good you have done in wisely dispensing the fruits of your successful business career not only, but also for the kindly and helpful personal service...
