The devastating error causes a worldwide plagueone for which mankind has no resistance. Sino expert Eric Logan and archeologist Dr. Marcia Kessler lead an expedition into China to extract a 20,000 year-old body from a glacier that could hold the secret to a cure. As they explore for the mummy, the world around them is collapsing from the effects of the strange illness that turns men into mindless monsters. The team escapes to a remote Buddhist monastery where they find a burial object that may be the answer to the pandemic, but time is running out.
