Not illustrated. 1878 Excerpt: .to Ptolemy s map of our east coast, a similar question may be asked respecting Norfolk or Suffolk. Plainly he had no station between the Stour and the Wash; and his only coarse was to outline almost directly the coast line between. Now, he had in the materials he used, no recorded station between Brachypwll and Seteia; and as the result, not Anglesea alone but a considerable piece of mainland is omitted, by his line drawn from one of these stations to the other. Ah! But some one says, What about Tacitus? True, Tacitus mentions Anglesea; but you know he was blowing his father-in-law s trumpet; he was praising Agricola, not writing geography. This is by no means the only case in which I have found the geography of Tacitus at fault. He had to carry the Roman soldiers to an island on the west coast...
